Little Sadako was a (American/Chinese/Japanese) girl. She was (two/three/four) years old when the atom bomb was dropped 3 km away from her home. The bomb killed many people.

When Sadako was (two/three/eleven) years old, she developed leukemia and was admitted to a hospital. Her mother told Sadako about the Japanese belief that folding (ten/hundred/thousand) origami cranes can fulfill a wish. So, Sadako spent all her time making origami cranes.

But she became too (fresh/healthy/sick) to complete making all the cranes and died at the age of twelve.

Ans-1. Japanese, two

2.eleven, thousand

3.sick
