PREPOSITION

Encircle the Prepositions in the passages given below:

(I) (On) the bank of river Yamuna, was the palace of king Shaurya Dev. Manohar was one of the many servants in the palace. Early one morning, Manohar accompanied Princess Rukmini to gather flowers. Rukmini carried a silver basket in which she put the many kinds of flowers that she picked. When it was full, she turned to go home.

(ii) The legendary king Vikramaditya was famous for his wisdom and valour. He was loved by his subjects for his good sense, kindness and above all for the fairness of his decisions in resolving their disputes. A king has to be fair to all his subjects. But the decision in a dispute which would satisfy one party might disappoint the other, however fair it might be. Vikramaditya had a knack of resolving disputes in such a manner as to satisfy all parties involved in them. As a result of this, the people who come to him as bitter enemies left as friends, and peace prevailed all over his vast empire.
