

BALIKA VIDYAPEETH LAKHISARAI

Class - VIII

Sub – English (Grammar)

Date - 21 FEB 2021.

Sub Teacher – MD NAUSHAD

Now, let's look at some example sentences with the present and past participles.

Present participle	Past participle
The movie was very boring.	Why do you look so bored?
That book was so interesting.	She is very interested in music.
His message was a bit confusing.	I feel quite confused.
What an amazing speech!	We were quite amazed to see her.
You really are annoying.	The audience became annoyed.
Mr. Jamal has an exciting job.	We are so excited!

Practise using present/past participles in the following sentences. Choose the right participle from the bracket to complete each sentence below.

1. Kamal was _____ (annoying/annoyed) by the news.
2. We found that the instructions were _____ (confusing/confused).
3. It's an _____ (amusing/amused) story. You should read this.
4. I'm not really _____ (interesting/interested) in basketball.
5. Do you feel _____ (worrying/worried) about exams?
6. Young children are often _____ (scaring/scared) of ghosts.
7. The stranger gave a _____ (surprising/surprised) news to all of us.
8. The defeat in the football match was so _____ (shocking/shocked) that we could not say a word for hours.